Petain Made Two Mistakes, States Lebrun

Belief in Germany, And Importance Of His Prestige

By Louis Nevin

PARIS, July 25—(AP)—Former President Albert Lebrun testified today that Marshal Petain threatened to resign from the Reynaud government unless it asked an armistice from Germany and later the same day took a complete cabinet list from a pocket when asked to form a new administration.

Before Lebrun told of the dramatic cabinet sessions of June 16, 1940, the court had echoed with mutterings and protests from jurors and spectators when Petain curtly refused to answer questions about telegrams congratulating the Germans for repulsing the Canadian at Dieppe and asking Hitler's permission to allow Vichy troops to fight alongside the Germans in defense of France.

Witness Shows Emotion

The question of the telegrams arose from a juror during the cross examination of Edouard Daladier, premier of France when the Germans struck.

Lebrun told in a voice quivering with emotion of news from the front telling of the complete collapse of French armies.

Lebrun recounted how three unnamed Vichy officials demanded his resignation as president. He said he refused and was ousted by the Vichy regime's action in suspending the constitution and making Petain a dictator.

Lebrun told the court trying Petain for intelligence with the enemy and plotting against the security of France that President Roosevelt, "with his clear sight," never believed a German victory even during the worst days.

Two Mistakes

"In my opinion, two great mistakes were made by Petain—or perhaps I should say by the government of Vichy," Lebrun said. "The first was the belief that Germany was going to win the war and the second was that Petain's own prestige—his seven stars as a marshal—could protect the country."

He said that no one could believe that the Germans and Russians, who, he said were together, "for a certain operation," would remain united.

The uneventful cross examination of Lebrun concluded at 5:30 p. m. and court was suspended for the day. Jules Jeanneney, former president of the French Senate, will open testimony tomorrow.

Asks Criticism Now, Not Later

Washington, July 25—(AP)—Senator Lucas (D-Ill.) challenged any critics of the United Nations charter in the Senate today to lay their cards on the table now—"not a year hence."

Speaking on the third day of general debate on the treaty, Lucas forecast the charter "will rank among the greatest documents in history."

No senator, he stressed, should vote for it "because he believes it politically dangerous to do otherwise."

Lucas' remarks were in the nature of a reply to Senator Wheeler (D-Mont.) who said yesterday he would vote for the treaty but promised a "battle" on the subsequent agreements stipulating the U. S. contribution in troops and resources to the world organization. Charter supporters contend then that any limitation later would be a breach of good faith.

"Let no one vote for this world document," Lucas said, "with the belief that some day when the implementing statutes and the special agreements come to us for congressional action, then will be the hour to draw the military teeth from this new international agreement."

"If there are those who have reservations or amendments, now is the time to present them."

General Craig Dies

WASHINGTON, July 25—(AP)—General Malin Craig, former army chief of staff, died today at 12:45 p. m., Central War Time, at Walter Reed hospital.

The announcement was made by Acting Secretary of War Robert P. Patterson.

Craig served as army chief of staff from October 3, 1935 to August 31, 1939. He had been ill for a year.

Report Home Guard Is Handling Guns On Honshu Island

SAN FRANCISCO, July 25—Pilots returning to Vice Adm. John S. McCain's carrier task force from raids over Honshu reported today that they saw civilian home guard guns. Mutual Broadcasting Company's Jack Hahan reported today.

Lt. (jg) Thomas E. Flynn, of Queens Village, N. Y., said: "The guys looked like a converted bunch of bank tellers and their aim was about what you'd expect."

Predicts Japan Will Bomb the United States

Could Reach U. S. In 100 Hours, Red Star Reports

MOSCOW, July 25—(AP)—The Japanese news agency Domei was quoted in Red Star today as saying that Japan "soon would direct balloons piloted by suicide fliers, across the Pacific to bomb the United States."

Domei said these devices, flying at a height of more than 50,000 feet, would reach the United States in a little more than 100 hours, Red Star reported.

Red Star writer M. Markov quoted the Domei threat in a review of the Pacific war that gave Soviet readers the best account they have read yet on the attack on Japan's industrial cities by American and British airmen.

Japan Has Difficulties

Japan is faced with "serious difficulties," Markov wrote, picturing the aerial blockade which the Americans and British have effected over Japanese shipping.

"Japanese propaganda," he said, opposes this situation "with references to special types of weapons, such as the Japanese suicide planes and secret weapons called stratosphere bombs," as well as by the threat of a trans-Pacific bombing attack.

It all adds up to the certainty that the mikado's government and the military chiefs will strain every nerve to find a face-saving expedient before surrendering. On that basis it may be that a Russian threat, or declaration of war, would indeed provide the necessary incentive.

Should Know Soon

We ought to know soon what Marshal Stalin has decided. We learn through an Associated Press dispatch from Potsdam that the belief prevails in sources close to President Truman that he has achieved substantial accord with the Russians on impending developments in the Japanese war. What that accord may be, is left to the imagination, but the dispatch added:

"Among Allied sources who have long enjoyed cordial contacts with the Soviet government it has not been doubted that the Russians, after their own fashion, will play a role in defeating Japan. These sources have sharply rejected the possibility of the Soviet Union indefinitely sitting back while the United States and Japan fought on."

Apropos of this, there's another highly interesting event signaled from Moscow. An AP dispatch reports an informed source as saying the conference between Stalin and Chinese Premier T. V. Soong in the Russian capital paved the way for an understanding never before achieved by the two nations.

And Tokyo, noting the cordial atmosphere surrounding the Stalin-Soong parley, has warned the Japanese public that this bodes Nippon no good.

Well, that's the case for the face saving idea. It will be recognized, of course, that it's speculative and shouldn't be taken for more than it actually is—a highly interesting possibility.

King Resigns

CHUNGKING, July 25—(AP)—H. H. Kung, brother-in-law of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, resigned today as governor of the Central Bank of China and was replaced by Minister of Finance O. K. Yui, who retained his cabinet post.

Gov. Carville To U. S. Senate

RENO, Nev., July 25—(AP)—F. P. Carville resigned as governor and was appointed U. S. senator for Nevada Tuesday.

He will fly to Washington today arriving Thursday in time to cast his vote in the senate for ratification of the United Nations charter. He succeeded the late Jas. G. Scrugham.

Carville had planned to resign as governor, effective August 1.

He advanced the date, he said, after receiving a telegram from Senator Barkley, majority leader urging him to be in Washington not later than Thursday to insure Nevada a full representation when the ballot is taken.

Vail M. Pittman, who became acting governor upon Carville's resignation appointed Carville senator this afternoon. Pittman will serve out Carville's unexpired term.

Senator Carville is a cousin of the late Miss Ella Carville, who was a well known resident of Sedalia, and a former teacher in the Sedalia public schools. The senator's father and Miss Carville's father were brothers, pioneers of Cooper county, near Lamine.

His father and mother have often visited in Sedalia.

Miss Carville was a niece of John S. McGaw, 417 West Fourth street and Mrs. Pat Sullivan, 1100 South Massachusetts avenue.

Halsey Wants Fleet Equipped With Wheels

WITH THIRD U. S. FLEET, off Japan, July 25—(AP)—Admiral Halsey yearned today for a fleet with wheels "so we could chase the Japs inland after we drive them from the coast."

Halsey's yearning was broadcast to the U. S. from his Third Fleet flagship only 100 miles off the Japanese coast, even as his carrier planes were smashing at cowering remnants of the Japanese fleet in the inland sea.

He proclaimed that naval warfare had entered a new phase—"the opening of the final plunge into the heart of Japan."

Japan Warned Terrific Raids Are Planned

Could Hit Them With 5,000 Tons In Single Attack

By Richard Bergholz

MANILA, P. I., July 25—(AP)—Japan was warned today by General George C. Kenney that the American air forces are about ready to hit the Japanese homeland with 5,000 tons of bombs.

This size "is a cinch," said the commander of the Far East air forces. "I'm being conservative when I say we could hit them with 5,000 tons in a single attack—something the world never dreamed of."

"In the very near future," he added, "more than 5,000 planes will be available for the concentrated aerial smash at Japan."

Of these, at least 4,000 are capable of carrying bombs and more than half are capable of strafing.

Can Ruin Mass Movement

Kenney, who has seen his air forces grow in three years from a few overworked bombers and fighters to its present potent force confidently predicted:

"We'll have enough stuff so that the Japs won't have a bridge or a sizeable road that will help them for future operations. They will be completely immobilized as regards any mass movement."

"I confidently expect that when we go ashore anywhere we want, we'll find almost a total lack of opposition on the beaches, the same as we've found it all through New Guinea and the Philippines."

Kenney asserted that the Japanese airforce is unable and unwilling to contest the American supremacy of the air over the homeland.

Older Navy Men May Ask for Discharge

WASHINGTON, July 25—(AP)—Older navy officers and men now may apply for discharge—if they have the points.

The navy's previously announced point system was placed in operation yesterday, but some releases may be months coming through. The plan provides one credit for each year of age at the nearest birthday plus another for each four months of active duty since September 1, 1939.

Requirements are 53 points for reserve line officers, enlisted reservists, inductees and enlisted regulars serving under expired enlistments; 55 points for reserve officers of the supply corps and 57 for reserve officers of the civil engineers corps.

Russia in War Might Give the Japs an Excuse

Could Surrender Without Too Much Loss of Face

By Dewitt Mackenzie

AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The mystery of the moment—whether Russia is coming into the war against Japan—has brought me the intriguing suggestion that if Moscow should make this move, or even threaten to do so, it might give Nippon exactly the excuse she needs for surrendering without too much loss of face.

This thought comes from my colleague Victor Eubank, now an Associated Press financial columnist but formerly AP chief of bureau in Tokyo, and incidentally also one-time chief of bureau in Moscow. He points out that with the Soviet Union's entrance into the conflict the Japs could manufacture the excuse:

"We could have beaten America and Britain all right. But no nation in the world could stand up against the American-British-Russian combination. So we are surrendering rather than subject our country to this effort."

Obsession of Ranks

Face-saving is an item of moment in the life not only of Japan but of the whole Orient. It is an obsession of all ranks, from the coolie to the emperor and to the state itself. Loss of face is one of the worst things that can happen to the individual or to the country as a whole.

Japanese generals and admirals commit hara-kiri to "save face," after they have "dishonored" their emperor by failing to fulfill the task to which they are assigned.

Guards are maintained about the crater of the extinct volcano of Fujiyama to prevent Japs from jumping into the bowels of this sacred mountain to save face.

Springfield Employees Quit

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., July 25—(AP)—Approximately 60 city street and park department employees left their jobs here today in a protest against the city council's refusal to bargain with their union representatives.

Councilmen, acting on the advice of city attorney Ted Beezley, have refused to negotiate with the city employees' unions. Beezley has held that the city's charter forbids the council to enter into a contract with a union.

Yesterday the council passed a resolution declaring that its members would "not discriminate" against any employee for belonging to—or not belonging to—a union.

Otto Bowles, business agent for the laborers' union, said the laborers regarded the council's action as "just a brush-off" and voted unanimously to remain off the job today.

Swimming pools were closed in parks here and all street maintenance and construction work was halted.

City officials had no comment on the work stoppage.

Warns Sailor of Company and Drinking

MIAMI, Fla., July 25—(AP)—Freed of manslaughter charges growing out of the death of Mrs. Ella Mae Eames, 43, of Boston, Sailor William W. Parker, of Toledo, Ohio, returned to his ship today.

In acquitting the youthful seaman for the killing of Mrs. Eames in his hotel room a week ago Sunday, Judge Ben C. Willard declared:

"You are lucky and I'm glad that the evidence was such that I could find you not guilty. x x x Young man, be careful of your drinking and your company."

Pfc. John Friedly, Jr., Gets Credit for Killing Two Japs

ILOILO, PANAY, P. I.—Pfc. John Friedly, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John Friedly, Ionia, Mo., experienced his first "banzai" attack only three days after the 108th Infantry Regiment of the veteran 40th Infantry Division invaded Mindanao.

It was night around Del Monte airfield, and as usual it was raining. Pfc. Friedly had dug his foxhole, but it rapidly was filling with water.

A man in each foxhole stood guard. In the darkness they couldn't see very much. They had to listen.

Although all the foxholes had several inches of water, the men who weren't on guard were getting what sleep they could. They had their ponchos spread over the top of the holes, and they were lying in the water underneath.

Heard The Japs

At cry of banzai Pfc. Friedly went tense. He heard the Japs pushing their way through the underbrush—screaming. He took his M-1 off safety and peered into the darkness.

Pfc. Friedly fired at a faint outline—a Jap screamed. Suddenly he saw a Jap officer in the perimeter, wildly swinging his samurai sword, slashing at the ponchos spread across the foxholes.

He shot, and almost instantaneously tracer fire from every foxhole followed, cut a vivid slash in the black night finding its apex in the body of the Jap officer.

The next morning the men found that five Japs had invaded the perimeter. Two were killed in the fight, and two had fled.

Friedly Killed Two

The officer, running loose for some time, wounded one man before he was killed.

Pfc. Friedly got credit for killing two of the Japs.

This infantryman had his first combat on Leyte, and made the invasion on Mindanao.

He is entitled to wear the Combat Infantryman Badge for front line combat, and the newly authorized Bronze Arrowhead, given to the men in assault waves of combat amphibious operations.

'Jack' Graham Dies in Action

Lieut. Graham, 22, is a son of Maurice P. Graham, of Washington, D. C., and Mrs. Jean B. Graham, of Hollywood, Calif. He was a pilot on a Mitchell Bomber, with the 5th Air Force.

He attended Sedalia schools and was graduated from Smith-Cotton high school, class of 1941.

A brother, Maurice P. Graham, Jr., is with the Merchant Marines, but is now on leave in California. He is a grandson of William A. Graham, 906 South Grand avenue, and a nephew of Paul Graham and Mrs. Harve McFarland, both of this city.

Not Asked to Resign, States Morgenthau, Jr.

WASHINGTON, July 25—(AP)—Henry Morgenthau, Jr., said flatly today that President Truman had not asked him to resign as secretary of the treasury.

He told a reporter he failed to make himself clear in New York yesterday when he said his leaving was "not of my own choosing."

It had been generally understood in Washington that Morgenthau himself forced the issue, resigning on July 5 when he became convinced that the president was planning to replace him with Fred M. Vinson in a few months.

Bothwell Hospital Notes

Explosion is Fatal

HAYS, Kas., July 25—(AP)—Anton A. Sanders died in a Hays hospital last night of burns suffered in the explosion of a fuel tank at the highway shops on U. S. highway 40 east of Hays yesterday.

Paul Speier, also injured in the accident, was reported in a critical condition. The two were working on the tank when it caught fire and exploded, spraying kerosene on their clothing.

"You are lucky and I'm glad that the evidence was such that I could find you not guilty. x x x Young man, be careful of your drinking and your company."

The seeds sent to Britain were provided through the home and community committee of the Pettis County Farm Bureau, working cooperatively with the Home Economic Extension clubs of the county. Funds were collected in the county through these organizations. The money was sent to the Missouri Farm Bureau Federation office, from which the aid, in the form of seeds, was sent directly to England.

Dual Air And Sea Thrusts

Bombardment Force Moved Back Towards Tokyo: Open Fire at 2 a. m.

By Leonard Millman
Associated Press War Editor

Three of Japan's big oil refineries near Tokyo were brought under the bomb sights of American Superfortresses today shortly after Tokyo reported another attack by Yank Third Fleet warships on a sector south of the war-battered rising sun capital.

The Superforts, 75 to 100 strong, flew from Marianas bases to lash a refinery area at Kawasaki, on Tokyo bay approximately 10 miles from the capital city. It was the second B-29 strike against the Japanese homeland in 36 hours.

Meanwhile, 1,200 carrier planes of the Third fleet hunted down remnants of the hard-hit Japanese navy. The carrier airmen were on the wing for the second successive day.

Today's dual air and sea thrusts were a punishing follow through on sweeping air attacks yesterday which destroyed or damaged 40 Nipponese vessels, including 11 warships, and 109 planes.

Tokyo radio reported a bombardment force of Admiral Halsey's unchallenged Third fleet moved back toward the approaches of Tokyo and opened its guns at 2 a. m. today on Kanagawa prefecture.

Kanagawa is due south of the Nipponese capital. It embraces the eastern shores of Tokyo bay, including the Yokosuka naval base where carrier planes damaged one battleship yesterday.

Pre-Dawn Attack

The report was unconfirmed, but Admiral Nimitz previously announced that Rear Adm. J. C. Jones, Jr., led a force of cruisers and destroyers in a pre-dawn bombardment today of the Koshimoto seaplane base and nearby military installations at the southernmost tip of Honshu island.

Kushimoto is 250 miles southwest of Kanagawa prefecture.

Biggest bag in yesterday's carrier attacks, which were continued throughout the night and most of today, was seven major units of the Japanese fleet.

Two battleships, three cruisers and one aircraft carrier were heavily damaged or left in flames off the great Kure naval base by American bombs and rockets.

British carrier planes added an escort carrier to the toll.

Both American and British seaborne planes pressed the attack today along the northern shores of the inland sea, from Kure to the industrial city of Kobe. Their announced task was to continue paring the once dominant imperial fleet down to the size of the Swiss navy.

Caught in Shanghai Waters

Army bombers flying out of Okinawa helped by sinking or probably sinking four lesser warships, ranging from a destroyer down. They caught them in the Shanghai waters Sunday when the weather cleared after grounding General MacArthur's planes for four days. Tokyo reported Shanghai attacks were still continuing with 250 bombers and fighters striking yesterday.

Japanese also announced Allied carrier forces returned today to Hokkaido, northernmost island of the Nipponese homeland, sweeping over the steel city of Muroran which was left in "pitiful ruins" by a fleet bombardment ten days ago.

Corpses Clog Berlin Subway

BERLIN, July 25—(AP)—German divers have found hundreds of corpses still clogging a flooded three-mile section of Berlin's subway in the heart of the city and have refused to continue work there, officials disclosed today.

The stretch of subway, running under Unter Den Linden from Anhalter, was being used as a hospital during the fighting for Berlin. Nazi S. S. leaders are reported to have flooded it where those in the tunnel signified a wish to surrender just before the city fell.

A British member of the Allied Transport Commission said the bodies were those of wounded soldiers and hospital workers with Red Cross arm brassards.

Change For Air Command

Maj. Gen. LeMay
Chief Of Staff
To Gen Spaatz

WASHINGTON, July 25—(AP)—Army Tuesday announced a triple change in Pacific air commands to help blast Japan with a greater bomb tonnage than ever rained on Germany.

Lt. Gen. Ira C. Eaker, deputy commander of army air forces announced that: 1. Maj. Gen. Curtis E. LeMay, a veteran of the B-29 strikes against Japan, has been promoted from commander of the 20th Air Force to be chief of staff to General Carl (Toey) Spaatz, commander of strategic army air forces.

2. Lt. Gen. Nathan F. Twining, native of Monroe, Wis., will be head of the 20th air force succeeding LeMay. Twining formerly commanded the big 15th air force in Africa and Italy.

3. Major General John B. Brooks, native of Greenwich, N. Y., will be commanding general of the 11th army air force. Attached to naval forces under Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, the 11th has recently been active in attacks against Paramushiro and the Kuriles.

The bomb tonnage creating havoc among the Japanese already is 60 per cent as heavy as the greatest flung against Germany. Eaker pledged that the figure will reach a record 270,000 tons a month by next March. This compares with the peak of 185,000 tons a month dropped on the Germans.

Eaker disclosed the army has cancelled all remaining orders for production of the B17 Flying Fortress, having a sufficient fleet of this type of bomber for the Pacific war.

Including a similar cutback six weeks ago on the B24 Liberator, the army now has cancelled orders for 44,300 planes which Eaker said would have cost $7,600,000,000.

Eaker said that a group of the B32 bombers, a new heavy bomber larger even than the B29 Superfortresses, will go into operation against Japan by the end of the year.

In outlining the increasing tempo of air strikes against Japan, Eaker revealed that 625 of the B29s participated in today's raid on Nasaka and Nagoya—a record raid so far. The prior record was made in a raid July 6 with 476 Superforts.

Eaker said he wanted to Scotch an impression the air forces would reduce personnel sharply with a one-front war, that actually the AAF will go to 2,130,000 men from a peak 2,400,000.

Upholds The Knotting Hair

KANSAS CITY, July 25—(AP)—Kansas City hairdressers and grandmas had a reply Tuesday for those who contend that knotting the hair on top of the head will cause receding hairlines.

"Nothing to it," commented Mrs. Hillard Forbes, reporting she had done her hair high more than a quarter of a century. "If it rots or destroys hair, then how can I have enough for two thick braids about eighteen inches long?"

Louis Dorange, hair stylist at the Muehlebach Beauty Salon, said, "Our great grandmothers used to wear high hairdress all the time and they had beautiful heads of healthy vigorous hair."

The head of a school of hair and beauty culture and a national authority on hair and hair styles, Miss Helen Tempelman reminded, "Grandma had lots more hair than we have today."

Men refused to be embroiled saying women change their hair so often it doesn't make any difference.

Dr. Loeb Gives Views On Taxes

JEFFERSON CITY, July 25—(AP)—Intangible property should be taxed at 2½ per cent of its annual yield and shares of corporation stock should be wholly exempt, Dr. Isidor Loeb of St. Louis told a legislative committee Tuesday.

Dr. Loeb, a former member of the state tax commission and dean emeritus of the Washington University school of business and public administration, said 3½ per cent would be a reasonable rate as a starter in complying with a provision of the 1945 constitution.

Later, he suggested, subsequent legislatures might want to raise or lower it, or to classify intangibles at varying rates, but for the present he recommended that all intangible property be taxed alike "until more statistics are available."

Under the old general property tax law, intangibles were taxed on their value like real property, but under a section of the new code which Dr. Loeb called an achievement and a radical change in Missouri's tax structure, intangibles are taxable only on the basis of their annual yield, and the legislature may not tax the yield at more than eight per cent.

Dr. Loeb told a special house committee studying necessary changes in the tax laws that an intangible levy such as he proposed could be collected easily by requiring taxpayers to file their own returns, along with certified copies of their income tax returns.

He based the 3½ per cent rate on figures showing that intangible property produced $1,832,000 in 1942. In comparison, a 3½ per cent levy on $65,556,000—the estimated amount received by Missourians as interest in 1929—would produce $1,979,000, or about $146,000 more than under the old system.

The intangible tax under the new code is earmarked for local governing units, less two per cent for collection which goes to the

That's why, with 5000 cars a day going into the scrap heap, all of us have plenty to worry about. That's why Uncle Sam says, "Care For Your Car For Your Country!"

And it's not hard to do—especially with your Phillips 66 Service Man standing by to help you. Because he has a special Tire-Saving and Car-Saving Plan for motorists like you. If you'll take your car to him regularly he'll check your tires—look out for cuts, bruises, and nails; warn you when re-capping is necessary; see that the air-pressure is right.

He'll take a regular look at your battery, cooling system, and air filter. He'll help discover the little troubles before they become big ones. And your Phillips 66 Service Man will tell you it's a mighty good idea to have a complete lubrication job done regularly—for it's often those unseen parts of a car that cause trouble.

Evening Glamor Out of the Past

By Espie Kinard
NEA Staff Writer

NEW YORK — New fashions in evening gowns are out to whoop up your mood for masquerade and will turn you in a twinkling into a Grecian column, a Minoan lady or one of Louisa M. Alcott's "Little Women."

There are three "Greek column" dresses, for instance, in one New York collection, and one is shown left, a Bruno-designed beauty with a draped one-shoulder bodice gathered to a short tunic and banded with delicately traced gold beading. In the same collection are sari-wrapped dresses in Olympian red and black, highlighted by gold traced Grecian motifs, which are reminiscent of what Minoan Greek ladies wore many centuries ago.

Seabees With Their Gadgets Doing Fine Job

Cleaning Shoreline Salvaging Wrecks On Iwo Jima

IWO JIMA — (P)—The blood-hallowed black ash of Iwo's beaches is still haunted by the rusting ghosts of invasion wreckage, but omnipresent Seabees are giving the spectres no rest. They and their giant mechanical gadgets are accomplishing a dual job: Cleaning the shoreline and salvaging the wrecks to make them serve again.

The landing craft now shell-twisted and half buried in black sand, the half-submerged pontoons, the bent and smothered amtracks and mishaps, abandoned "ducks" will never serve another D-day. The Seabees in time, however, will make them serve the ways of peaceful Iwo and the comforts of its fighting men.

This particular day, Seabees—and engines—are tussling with partly sunken pontoons, metal cubes about six feet square which linked together in numbers form quick docks for unloading supplies. They're heavy and cumbersome but the 'Bees and their mountain-lifters are winning the scrap with ease.

Showers Tanks

"They're to be used for shower tanks for the fight pilots up there," said big, red-haired Frank Toole, a shipfitter first class from Minooka, Ill., bossing the job. "Them fellows need their showers—in the air eight to nine hours—that one seat—and they c'n't get water for 'em until they get their tanks."

Cy O'Fallon, shipfitter first class from Hutchinson, Minn., nodded agreement.

"They asked us to come down here and bring back about 60 of these pontoons," said Toole, "so we bring 'em 61 this morning and then the orders are to keep on getting 'em. If we don't use 'em for shower tanks we'll use the iron for repairs, anyway."

Out on a wreck stands Clarence Connolly, a hipfitter from Iowa, untanned, wearing only trunks. He's burning holes for the lifting hook with an acetylene torch.

Other Workers

Carpenter Phil Yater, from Staten Island, New York, stands beside him, balancing his weight, holding the torch high.

A breaker, almost knocking the pot from their perch, causes the torch to splutter. But it quickly spurts its steady, angry blue flame again.

Machinist Paul LeBoeuf, Webster, Mass., and electrician Alvin Wolfe, of Louisville, Ky., watch an' chuckle. Suribachi, its rugged heights now scaled by an easy-climbing road might chuckle

He was arrested early Sunday morning, July 15, following an accident which involved his car and that driven by Sgt. Lloyd R. Scott, of La Monte, who is home on a 45-day furlough after service overseas.

Hart was accused of driving on the wrong side of the highway and his car and that driven by Scott crashed almost head-on. Both automobiles were badly damaged.

File Suit in Locker Cases

ST. LOUIS, July 26—(P)—Suits to compel two frozen food lockers establishments to keep records of meat held in storage were filed in U. S. district court here today by the office of price administration.

The defendants are Ladue Lockers, Inc., St. Louis and Busby Frozen Food Bank, Poplar Bluff, Mo.

The suits ask that the companies be required to maintain records of meats placed in storage, weight, kind, date received, name and address of customer, and the date of withdrawals, as specified in ration order No. 16.

The Ladue Lockers denied admittance to OPA investigators a week ago until a court order restrained the management from interference with work of enforcement agents.

A similar court order was issued after the city health engineer at Poplar Bluff sought to prevent agents from inspecting meats stored in Busby Lockers.

M-W Wins The Second Round Of Softball

Yanks and Chinese Made Chihchiang Air Base Too Hot for Japs to Hold

Defeated SAAF Officers In Close Game 4 To 3

Defeating the SAAF Officers in a close game, 4 to 3, the Montgomery Ward softball team, Tuesday night on the south diamond of the Smith-Cotton high school field, won the second round of the Twilight league. By virtue of the win Montgomery Ward will meet the first round winner, the Missouri Pacific Eagles in a contest sometime next week.

In a second game of the finals played Tuesday night Rosenthals won on the big end of another one-run advantage game, shaking loose Sacred Heart 7 to 6.

The Montgomery-Ward-SAAF Officers game went an extra inning.

The first M. W. score came in the third inning when Hunt scored, two tallies were chalked up in the sixth by Ream and Steiner and the winning run was tabulated in the last half of the eighth when Ream scored on a passed ball.

The Officers scored in the third with Dasput who came through again in the fifth and Downing made the third run in the sixth inning.

Batteries: SAAF Officers—Dasput, pitcher and Siegel catcher; Montgomery Ward—Steiner, pitcher and Satterwhite, catcher. The Montgomery Ward team won three straight games in the second round, after dropping four losses earlier in the season.

In the game on the north diamond Schwermer and Shelby scored two for Rosenthals in the first; Shelby and Williams ran up tallies in the fifth. A game-winning rally for the R's developed in the sixth with Mahnklin, Miller and Schwermer crossing the plate.

Sacred Heart opened up in the second inning with Eakin scoring and four runs were pushed across in the fourth by Scouten, Weller, Spealer and Eakin tallying. Spealer turned in the sixth run in the sixth.

Sacred Heart got nine hits for their six runs, while Rosenthals secured 10 hits to score seven runs. Shelby, star first baseman for Rosenthals, was injured in the third inning when he slipped on a base and had to be replaced. He suffered a twisted ankle.

Batteries: Sacred Heart—Spealer, pitcher and Lueck, catcher; Rosenthals—Williams, pitcher and Schilb, catcher. In the second round of the game series Rosenthals, Sacred Heart and the SAAF Officers won one game and lost two, with Montgomery Ward winning three.

This winds up the summer twilight softball league with the exception of the play-off game between Wards and the Mo-Pac Eagles, marking a successful season with many players participating and taking advantage of the recreation provided.

Chinese infantrymen were flown to Chihchiang to aid in battle against Japs. So stubbornly did defenders fight, however, that airborne infantry, like these men enjoying last meal before going aboard transport, were held in reserve.

By HARRY GRAYSON NEA Staff Correspondent

CHIHCHIANG, SOUTHWEST HUNAN PROVINCE, CHINA—Places like Chihchiang forcefully remind you that the war is not won, that young men are still risking their lives in kicking hell out of Japan.

Out-of-the-way Chihchiang and brave men who have been—and are—based here deserve vast attention that they have been given. At Chihchiang, only a few weeks ago, the Japs for the first time failed to take an airfield which they seriously tried to get in China. In the defense of this airfield the Chinese won their only major battle on their home grounds.

At Chihchiang, in the only battle of its kind in any war, young men of two nations of different languages, customs and cultures fight side by side. This is the base of the Chinese-American Composite Wing of the famous 14th Air Force, the one that has done mostest with the least.

When many air bases on Japan's "Greater East Asia Land Line" had fallen, Chihchiang remained a pain in the neck to the Nips. So in April of this year they decided to take it and consolidate their life-line. They launched a formidable offensive from the area of their base at Paoching in western Hunan.

In addition to being a practical base for the bombing and strafing of the Hengyang-Changsha corridor, Chihchiang was a supply point for Chinese armies in the area.

Allied ability to fly supplies to Chihchiang cut off many miles of road travel in a country where roads are few and difficult and transportation facilities extremely limited. The loss of Chihchiang would have been another sickening blow to Chinese morale and, correspondingly, would have given Jap propagandists at least a modicum of good news for home-front consumption to ballyhoo in part the very bad news being received at that time from other areas, particularly Burma, and Philippines and Okinawa.

The Japs meant it, for they launched a four-pronged offensive from Paoching, headed generally west toward Chihchiang, 120 air miles distant. Pessimists on the Chinese-American side at one time seemed prepared to write Chihchiang off the books, expecting it to fall in the same manner as Nanning, Kweilin, Liuchow and other air bases along the life-line. Then pessimists had a surprise in store for them, however. Though they gave ground at first, the Chinese fought back with a stubbornness that made every li (roughly one-third of a mile, Chinese measure) expensive to the Japs.

Contributing magnificently to the ground defense were the activities of the 14th Air Force, which played a conspicuous part in the defense of its own base. Lacking air cover, the enemy had little defense against forays by planes of the Chinese-American Composite Wing. Jap lines of supply were harassed, his personnel was struck with demolition and fire bombs and strafed. As Jap supply lines lengthened and striking power correspondingly diminished, it became increasingly obvious that the enemy effort was doomed to failure. For the first time in an operation of this kind in China since July 7, 1937—in almost eight years of warfare—the Japs lost. Gradually, and at high cost to the Chinese in men and material, each of the four prongs of the offensive was thrown back. Jap losses were heavy, not only because of the hard fighting but also because, as the effort lost momentum and direction, many Jap troops were cut off, surrounded and liquidated.

Japs Routed

The Japs were soundly whipped in seven weeks. Thousands never got back to their starting point along what was then a completely Jap-held inland corridor from the Changsha Lake district south via Hengyang, Kieilin, Liuchow and Nanning to Hanoi in French Indo-China. Units had to retreat, in little groups of stragglers infiltrating back through encircling Chinese lines. All were given rough handling. The Japs are today the same distance from the air base as when they started.

Dramatically illustrating the spirit and determination with which the Chinese fought is the fact that the American-trained and equipped Chinese New Sixth Army, made up of veterans of the victorious Burma campaign, was near the field of battle but was not needed and was held in reserve. The new Sixth Army was flown from Chihchiang at the height of the battle. This probably was the first time an entire field army other than a specially-trained airborne army was transported with their animals almost entirely by air direct to the area of battle.

Parts of three Japanese divisions, a total of 45,000 men, were committed to battle, and one-third of them, or an entire division, were killed.

Chihchiang is a name to remember.

It was too hot for the Japs even while—in China at least—was still rolling hell-bent-for-leather toward "Empire."

OBITUARIES Northernmost American Base Is a Busy One

Heavy Streams Of Planes From Europe Land Here

(Editor's Note: Vern Haugland, Associated Press War Correspondent who recently returned home from the Pacific, is now touring Europe with a party of American newsmen engaged in studying the effects of Allied bombing there before assignment to the new Pacific strategic air force, embracing the 8th and 20th Air Forces. The following dispatch was written by Haugland en route to England, where he arrived Sunday.)

By Vern Haugland

GOOSE BAY, Labrador, July 22—(Delayed)—The greater part of the redeployment of American air forces from Europe through this busy North American base is tentatively scheduled for completion by Labor Day.

Men attached to the United States Army Air Base at Goose Bay said heavy streams of west-bound combat and transport aircraft from the United Kingdom, which began with the defeat of Germany, probably would continue throughout the summer.

They said the Pacificward flow of Eighth Air Force planes had dwindled almost to a trickle, however, more than 1,200 planes of that command having passed through this field or Newfoundland's twin bases—Gander and Harmon fields—en route to the United States.

Ninth Air Force planes now are starting to fly home. Their transfer is expected to be completed by September. In a single day recently 135 American planes checked through here from England, most of them headed for Bradley Field at Windsor Oaks, Conn., destined for reassignment to the Pacific.

Four-motored aircraft fly here directly from the British Isles, while smaller planes—including the robust twin-engine C-47 transports, sometimes make the trip in easy hops via Iceland and Greenland.

Most fighter planes in England are being dismantled and crated for shipment home.

Clearing Wilderness

This northernmost large American base carved out of a great forested wilderness and still without telephone or telegraph contact with civilization—also dispatches planes to lonely army outposts on Baffin island and within the Arctic Circle.

Even during poor flying weather last February and March this base handled more than 500 planes a month. Canadian and British fliers also are stationed here, along with more than 100 army transport command and other ground personnel.

It is a scenic spot with invigorating, rugged climate, but as Pvt. Ernest Pisano, New York City, says: "We will all be glad when we can go back home."

Pfc. Duane McGirk Back From Overseas

Pfc. Duane E. McGirk arrived home this morning to spend a 30-day furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. McGirk, 311 East Seventh street.

McGirk, who entered the army three years ago today, served in France, Germany and Austria with the 44th division, and arrived in New York on the Queen Elizabeth last Friday.

Before entering service, he was employed in railway express.

'Air-trail Inns' May Replace Roadside Taverns Before Long

For hungry skyfarers who drop down from the heavens to dine at "air-trail inns," parking areas like this one at Ernberger's are provided.

By James K. Chandler
(NEA Correspondent)

CLEVELAND—You might as well know now that your pre-war custom of driving to a roadside inn for dinner is definitely outdated.

After the war, thousands of air-minded Americans will fly to "air-trail inns" especially designed for their convenience. Here is a preview of the new type of country inn, where you can get well-cooked meals away from the clangs, rattles and beeps of city traffic.

One of these inns already is in operation, serving private flyers who put their planes down upon a new landing strip that Park and Iva Ernberger built upon their 120-acre farm, five miles south of Norwalk, O.

"Let's go to a quiet, cool place for lunch," C. W. Grove, president of a Cleveland savings and loan association, suggested when I met him on the street.

"There isn't any such place," I countered.

I know better, now. We left Cleveland Airport in Mr. Grove's dual-control Rearwin "Cloudster" at 11:50 a. m. and we rolled smoothly down the north strip of the Ernbergers' T-shaped landing field at 12:15 p. m. The ride was cool and refreshing. The Ernbergers' place was cool and quiet. We ate a home-cooked lunch on the farmhouse's wide screened porch and talked flying to Mr. Ernberger, a licensed pilot. Other patrons taxied up to the house as we ate.

"We just opened up June 15," Mr. Ernberger said, "and we served 115 meals the first two weeks. A week ago last Sunday we had 11 planes in here at one time."

"They fly in from Cleveland, Toledo, Columbus and Sandusky. I expect they will come from other places after we have had a chance to advertise a little."

Mr. Grove and I lolled on the porch for a little while after lunch (we were lucky enough to get steak), then went back to his plane.

Unfortunately, we were back in town in time to do a full afternoon's work midst the clangs, rattles and beeps of the city.

Bill Is Vetoed By The Governor

JEFFERSON CITY, July 25 — (P)—Gov. Phil M. Donnelly vetoed Tuesday a bill which he criticized as vague, unworkable and costly to the state in its attempt to change the system for licensing motor carriers.

Currently, a trucking firm may use one Public Service Commission truck license to operate two additional emergency vehicles on payment of a $5 fee but only one of the three trucks may be operated at the same time.

The governor said the bill by Sen. Jasper Smith (R) of Springfield would have eliminated the alternate licensing fees.

It also would leave the way open, he said, for an unscrupulous trucker to operate several vehicles at the same time under one license. He estimated total revenue losses to the state would amount to several thousand a year.

Present law classifies trucks according to the manufacturer's rated capacity while the bill would have used the pay load or the weight carried. In the absence of a means for the Public Service Commission to determine these factors, Donnelly called the measure "absurd, unreasonable and unenforceable."

Pavement 'Buckles' Under Hot Sun

Apparently the highway could have been used as a griddle to fry eggs Tuesday afternoon—at any rate the highway patrol reported that the pavement had "blown up" at Flat Creek hill south of Sedalia on highway 65.

The highway department was advised of the condition and presumably was going to effect repairs as soon as possible.

The mercury advanced 20 degrees during the morning from 75 at 7 a. m. to 95 at 12 noon. The high temperature of the day was reached at 3 p. m. when the thermometer registered 98 degrees, which was lessened by one point at 5 p. m.

Merry-Go-Round

by DREW PEARSON

(Note: Drew Pearson continues his series of columns on the problems President Truman faces at Potsdam.)

WASHINGTON, July 25—President Truman has now made it clear at Potsdam that what the United States wants out of this war is no territory but "the peace and prosperity of the world as a whole."

This means he may have to do some tough talking with his two colleagues to battle down the unfortunate tendency on the part of both Russia and Britain to dominate certain parts of the world that don't want to be dominated.

In other words, Truman will have to re-define, if not wipe out "spheres of influence."

Last week this column described the Russian sphere of influence in the Balkans and how a combination of Bulgar-Russian Communists had ridden roughshod over middle of the road political leaders, even restricting the movements of American representatives. President Truman at that time wanted to pull American officials completely out of Rumania and Bulgaria. But now, instead of retreating, he is in a position where he must stand up and try to rectify some of these injustices face to face with Stalin.

Like-wise with Churchill. Although the American people have not heard as much about British injustices as they have Soviet operations in Poland, Mr. Churchill's record in Britain's so-called spheres of influence is not one to be proud of.

Abyssinia, first victim of aggression in this war, is still occupied by British troops.

Greece, the cradle of democracy, is now occupied by as many British troops as by Germans one year ago. Foreign troops are foreign troops and Greek reaction is that they didn't fight this war to be occupied by outsiders, no matter who they are.

Egyptian Gates Battered in

Strict British censorship has concealed a great deal of what has happened in the Near East. Few people outside Egypt, for instance, have known about the high-handed way the British battered down the gates of the royal palace and forced the king to appoint a British-picked prime minister.

When British ambassador Sir Miles Lampson called on King Fouad with the "advice" that Mostafa Nahas Pasha be made premier, the king replied that the Anglo-Egyptian treaty specifically provided there was to be no British interference in Egyptian political affairs. He told the ambassador that Egypt would cooperate in every possible way toward winning the war but would bitterly resent any dictations as to who should be in the Egyptian cabinet.

The king then called a special meeting of his cabinet and all the political leaders. Unanimously, even including Nahas—the man the British wanted as premier—they signed a protest against political interference. The protest was presented to Sir Miles at 7 a. m. At 8 a. m., Sir Miles asked for an immediate audience with the king which was granted.

The audience was set for 9 p. m. but at 8:45 a brigade of British troops carrying machine guns

Soldiers' Wives and Returning Husbands

You may have seen in the papers where a writer cautioned Army wives that their returning husbands would be "strangers" to them—because they've been through experiences that their wives could never share.

Well, a high-ranking officer wrote an answer to that; he called it nonsense. "What do our men want most? To finish the war and come home ... What are they fighting for?...for everything the word home means."

Of course, the word "home" means something different to

Kiss and Tell

by F. HUGH HERBERT

An Actual Movie Shooting Script

THE STORY: After eloping, Mildred and Lenny each return home. When Corliss tells Lenny about the new row with Mrs. Pringle, he confesses that he and Mildred are married, that he had planned to tell their parents that evening but now doesn't know what to do. He has about decided to tell them anyway when Mr. Archer's voice is heard in the hall. He is ringing.

XIV

INT. ARCHER PORCH MEDIUM SHOT—SHOOTING TOWARD THE HALL

On the heels of this threat, Mr. Archer appears in the doorway. He is very much the worse for wear and holds a bloody handkerchief to his nose. There's a wide rip in his trouser leg. One eye is already beginning to close—with the beginning of what promises to be a memorable shiner. Mrs. Archer is fussing over him solicitously—but Mr. Archer is in no mood for solicitude. Corliss and Lenny are duly astounded at the sight of their parent.

MRS. ARCHER: Now, Harry, please sit down! You're going to get blood over everything. CORLISS: Daddy, what's the matter? LENNY: For Pete's sake—what happened? MRS. ARCHER: (peremptorily) Corliss, run to the kitchen and get me some ice cubes right away. CORLISS: (frantically) But what happened? What happened?

MR. ARCHER: (bellowing) Don't stand there yapping "What happened." I'm bleeding to death.

Corliss dashes into the kitchen. Between them Lenny and Mrs. Archer practically force Mr. Archer onto the couch.

•LENNY: (alarmed) Mom, was he hit by a car? MR. ARCHER: (yelling) No, I was hit by Bob Pringle—the dirty, cowardly rat and I'll sue him if it's the last thing I do.

appeared outside the royal palace. A couple of British tanks battered down the gates. Machine guns lined up inside the gates pointing toward the residence of the king—not his office.

And the British ambassador, despite the fact that he had already been given an appointment, drove up to the palace steps—all the armed might of the British empire behind him. Sir Miles then repeated his demand that Nahas be made premier of Egypt—at once. Significantly, the British ambassador added:

"Your majesty is very fond of duck shooting. If this order is not carried out we will find some excellent duck shooting for you immediately—in South Africa."

This hint of exile in British South Africa was sufficient. Nahas was appointed. Shortly thereafter, Sir Miles Lampson got his reward from Churchill. He was made Lord Killearn.

British Imprison Greeks

Several miles from the royal palace in Egypt is another testimonial to what Britain considers her right to dominate certain "spheres of influence." It is a Greek concentration camp.

It was last fall that the Nazi conquerors were chased out of Greece. But today around 7,000 Greeks still are held prisoners by the British in Egypt and East African concentration camps. These Greeks are neither Fascists nor pro-Germans. They are Greeks who fought stubbornly to defend their country. But they had committed one great political crime. They are opposed to the return of the king and Churchill long has been maneuvering for the king's return.

In the British concentration camps are many Greeks well known in the U. S., among them Maj. Marcos Cladakis, a cousin of Nick Cladakis, former milk administrator for New York. Nick was killed when his Liberator was shot down over Taranto, Italy, but his cousin, fighting for the same cause, remains a prisoner of the British because he is opposed to King George II.

Prime Minister Churchill showed such great concern for the 16 arrested Poles that Truman had to send ex-ambassador Joe Davies to London, to get him to accept the Hopkins compromise on Poland. But Churchill has shown no concern for the 7,000 Greeks whom every fighting man. For home is a lot of little things: A garden or a work bench—well-thumbed books... a mellow glass of beer with friends.

But whatever they are, it's the memory of these small familiar things that he takes with him into battle. And it's these little things that link his thoughts to home—and to the familiar life that he looks forward to returning to.

MEDIUM SHOT—SHOOTING TOWARD SCREEN DOOR

At this moment Raymond stealthily enters the porch, and at first he's not noticed.

RAYMOND: (herce whisper) Hey—past Lenny! Mr. Archer hears also and at the sight of Raymond he almost hits the ceiling.

RAYMOND: (amiably) Hi, Mr. Archer. Mr. Archer makes a lunge for Raymond, but is held back by his wife.

MR. ARCHER: (bellowing) Get that spawn of Robert Pringle's out of my house! RAYMOND: (beats a hasty retreat) Okay, Mr. Archer. Okay. I'm going. I just thought you might be interested to know that Pop's in far worse shape than you are.

Archer makes a violent lunge in his direction. Raymond hastily beats it into the garden. Mrs. Archer and Louise drag Archer towards the hall, leaving Lenny and Corliss alone on the porch.

INT. PORCH CLOSE SHOT—CORLISS AND LENNY

Lenny quickly closes the door. LENNY: (urgent whisper) Now listen—after this you're not to say anything. You've got to swear.

CORLISS: I'll take an oath in blood—like we did when we were kids. Will that satisfy you, Lenny? You know I never went back on that. (she indicates a bloodstain on her finger: in all seriousness) And this is Daddy's blood, too.

LENNY: Okay. Corliss raises her hand and her voice is hushed with childish sincerity.

CORLISS: (this is the secret oath) I swear in blood by everything I hold sacred that I'll never reveal your secret.

LENNY: (a warning growl) You'd better not! That's all. CORLISS: (a dramatic pause) Joan of Arc, no less! They could torture me and I wouldn't receipts in Shepherd's hotel room was James Harakas, an UNRRA worker of long experience. He was one of the first men sent to handle relief in North Africa in 1943, even before UNRRA was organized. But after he was so indiscreet as to report the undercover operations of Colonel Shepherd to stir up civil war among the Greeks, Harakas was removed by the British Near Eastern chief of UNRRA and sent to Egypt. There he was kept until Roy Hendrickson, American assistant to ex-Governor Lehman, cleared him, overruled the British and assigned Harakas to camps in Germany.

Harakas, however, has not been permitted to return to the U. S., where he might talk.

These are some of the problems President Truman faces at Potsdam. He has already ironed out part of the Polish problem and discussions are even under way regarding the withdrawal of the Red army from Poland. But there has been absolutely no intimation as yet that the British were going to withdraw their 73,000 troops from Greece—an army which the Greeks don't want, and which we do want in the Pacific to share the burden of heavy American losses.

Luxury Loungers

NEW YORK — For fall and winter new lounging ensembles will bloom with out-of-season, hand-painted roses, and will be lit up like a jeweler's window by sequins.

Collections bristle with fabric interest—brocade, satin, damask, velvet, hand-painted crepes, and woven plaid taffetas. Combined for all of the excitement a woman could crave are black velvet, which makes yoked waistband slacks, and hand-painted crepe which fashions the tuck-in blouse.

This especially effective combination, sponsored by Clare Potter, is seen above at right. On a "canvas" of blue and white checked background crepe, huge red roses and black abstract motifs are hand-painted to turn a blouse into a conversation piece.

It was voted to have a picnic dinner at Liberty park the second Sunday in August, with Mrs. Skaggs as hostess.

The meeting was closed by repeating the Lord's Prayer.

Sports Roundup

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

NEW YORK, July 25.—(AP)—Times change—or do they? . . . The news that Luis Angel Firpo is planning to come to the United States to confer with Contr. Jack Dempsey about his heavyweight protegee, Abel Cestac, isn't too surprising . . . Cestac is about to make his North American debut in Madison Square Garden, which is a somewhat better spot than Firpo drew when he first arrived from Argentina, and there are reports already that the Firpo-Dempsey combination will become involved in some sort of legal ruckus over Abel's services . . . Looking back 22 years we find that from the time the "Wild Bull" reached these shores until he finally got his fight with Dempsey, Luis Angel was mixed up in an effort to halt one scrap by an injunction from a fight club that claimed his services, a suit by his business manager, a suit over some fight movies and an argument about firing his trainer, Jimmy DeForest . . . Then Firpo's purse for the Dempsey fight was attached and before he got safely back to Argentina he was involved in a mixup over a little matter of applying for United States citizenship when he didn't mean it.

Makes It Unanimous
Capt. Tony Calvelli, former Detroit Lion center, wrote owner Freddie Mandel that he would like to have some equipment and Frank Sinkwich for his Camp Davis, N. C., football team this fall. . . . Freddie, never a guy to waste words, gave some thought to Sinkwich—on the way to the Pacific—and to the scarcity of football supplies and dispatched this three-word reply: "So would it."

Shorts and Shells
Minor league statisticians are snickering politely because the National Association got out some fancy official score sheets, including a space for runners caught stealing and the player making the putout, but neglected mention of the important name of the catcher tossed out the runner . . . The Freehold, N. J., trotting track used to be part of a golf club . . . How about a parlay on a hole-in-one and the daily double? . . . The week's best understatement by Larry MacPhail, of all people: "I won't say this is a great Yankee team."

Service Dept.
One reason why Keesler Field, Miss., is scheduling the "big" service football teams may be Pvt. A. C. "Dink" Bowen, former Greenville, Miss., and Georgia Tech flash who is taking his basic training there . . . Camp Lee, Va., which hasn't had any boxing since 1942, will start up a big fight since August 1. Lt. Andy Carroll, former LaSalle college (Philadelphia) basketball and football player, is in charge . . . The Columbus, Tex., civilian entry in the Fort Benning, Ga., infantry school baseball league, have come up with a left-handed shortstop named Profit who was released from a German prison camp last April. . . . If he makes a bobble in a crucial moment, we suppose the camp paper headlines: "Profit and loss."

Washington And Brooklyn Surprise Teams

Springtime Cellar Selections. They are Fighting for the Top

By Jack Hand
Associated Press Sports Writer

Washington and Brooklyn remain the two major surprises of the 1945 baseball season today as the big leaguers take a day off for travel after completing their fourth interseasonal series.

Although both the Senators and Dodgers, the springtime cellar selections, were beaten in last night's tests, they managed to stick within striking distance of the lead after facing their toughest rivals.

Ossie Bluege's Senators came home from the west two weeks ago bubbling over with pennant enthusiasm, pulled to within 2 1/2 games of the top, did a back flip while blowing two straight double headers and then came back to end the home stand in second place, only three lengths behind Detroit.

Allie Reynolds cooled off Washington, 4-0, scattering seven hits for his 10th decision as Dutch Leonard went down for his fourth loss, snapping a five-game winning string. Cleveland slugged the knuckleball expert for 11 blows in eight frames.

In the only other scheduled American league contest, Boston blanked St. Louis, 6-0, on a four-hitter by Emmett O'Neill. Luke Sewell's hurlers had a nightmarish day, walking 12 batters. Starter Sig Jakucki passed five before he retired with two out in the first. The Red Sox took over fourth place and the Browns fell to sixth although they topped seven of 12 in the east.

Leo Durocher got only three complete games in 14 starts from his pitching staff but strong hitting by Goody Rosen, Dixie Walker and Luis Olmo and adroit use of relief hurlers, kept the "Bums" within 5 1/2 lengths of the fast-stepping Chicago Cubs.

The world champion St. Louis Cards got an even break in their four-game test with the Dodgers, regaining possession of second position on a 7-6 edge. After the Brooks slugged Charley Barrett for a 6-1 lead in the first three frames, George Dockins came in to stop them dead while the Red Birds rallied with one in the fourth and four in the fifth tie. Augie Bergano's 3rd straight single in the ninth broke it up.

Chicago pulverized the Phillies, 8-3, behind Bob Chipman for the Cubs' 13th verdict in 16 meetings with the cellar club. Chicago's league lead now measures 4 1/2 games.

Pittsburgh is putting on another drive. The Pirates ran their winning streak to five, all over Boston, by taking an 11-inning thriller, 6-5. Kenny Gables, chunky rookie right-hander, earned his sixth successive decision on relief at the expense of freshman Don Hendrickson. Both are former New York Yanks farm system hurlers and a former Jack, Saltzgraver socked a decisive triple in the second extra inning.

The New York Giants wound up a dreary western tour by knocking off Cincinnati, 6-4, racking up 11 hits off four Red Sox hurlers. Harry Feldman needed help from Ace Adams in earning his eighth victory.

Filthy, Crowded Troop Trains Sidetracked While 7 Luxury Expresses Get Green Light

By S. Burton Heath
NEA Staff Correspondent

This is the first of two stories by S. Burton Heath, who boarded a troop train at Camp Kilmer to obtain a personal experience view of conditions under which GI's travel.

CAMP GRANT, Ill.—"Give me a French box car. That's solid comfort compared to this."

That in a nutshell sums up GI opinion of the old, hard, dirty, packed coaches in which 167 officers and 625 enlisted men traveled from Camp Kilmer, outside New Brunswick, N. J., to Camp Grant, 85 miles beyond Chicago.

An exasperating two hour wait on a siding in Indiana, while seven de luxe passenger trains were given the right of way to Chicago, added nothing to the pleasures of the trip.

There were 18 cars—15 coaches and three baggage-kitchen cars—as far as Pittsburgh. There 10 cars were detached to head toward St. Louis and our eight continued westward toward Chicago. On the average, there were 53 officers and men in each coach, from 10:30 Wednesday morning until shortly after 5:30 Thursday evening.

Dirt Everywhere

The cars literally were filthy. Notwithstanding occasional polishing they were littered with discarded newspapers, cigaret and candy wrappings and miscellany. Over everything lay a coating of black dirt, so thick that when you washed your hands—provided you could get a turn at the single toilet-washroom in most cars—your hands were blackened again.

Side-tracked in Indiana, GI's wait impatiently for express trains which have the right of way. Troop train was delayed here for two hours while seven de luxe passenger trains were given the green light.

just by opening the toilet door to come out.

The aisles had been swept before our contingent boarded the cars, and the paper and other trash had been scattered en route. That is just about inevitable on such a trip. Much grime had come through the windows, opened to get a breeze into cars that otherwise would have been unbearable.

Even when we first went aboard, the cars were not clean, and the windows were actually dirty. The toilets were uninviting, and one was so clogged that it could not be flushed, though more than 50 men had to use it for 30 hours.

From the moment we eased onto the main line of the Pennsylvania near New Brunswick, until we hit a siding near Fort Wayne, our troop special, so far as speed was concerned, might have been a scheduled civilian limited in good standing. To that siding we were only four hours behind the running time of the Pennsylvania's prize New York-to-Chicago Broadway Limited.

It took almost three hours to get from the siding to Columbia City, 19 miles west of Ft. Wayne, but the GI's were reconciled when they saw the remains of a freight wreck through which we inched our way. The accident was a day old, but cleaning up might well interfere with the most urgent train movements.

We cleared the wreck. The engineer opened his throttle. We began to study time tables and all right. We were still holding our own with the de luxe trade. The train crew stayed on the ground. Another express scooted past toward Chicago. Undoubtedly the Pennsylvania Limited, that left New York almost four hours after we started.

Another whistle. This must be the Admiral. Then came the General. The boys stayed on the ground and along came the Liberty Limited, first section. It was followed by the second section.

The next train was the Pennsylvania's pride, the Broadway Limited, that started more than six hours after us but caught up at that siding outside Columbia City, Ind. We still had to wait for the delayed Trail Blazer.

For just under two hours, then, our GI Special, crowded with fighting men eager to get "processed," paid, and started home to their families, idled out in the Indiana fields while seven scheduled flyers roared past without so much as a toot of apology or of pity.

We climbed aboard. Every man knew now that it would be Friday before he could start home from Camp Grant.

Officers and men alike realized that there are not enough Pullman beds to go around, and they had lost out in the draw. They realized that there are more old coaches than new, that help is scarce and dirt accumulates fast. They understood that when a troop train starts with cars destined for six different camps, some delays are inevitable in breaking down the train at junction points.

I talked with and listened to these men for 30 hours, from Camp Kilmer to Camp Grant, and nothing got them down, or dimmed the cheerfulness with which they day-dreamed about homecomings, until the two hours we spent on a sidetrack watching seven civilian expresses whiz past. The GI's never did understand why we could not have kept going, at least to Chicago, without holding up the trains that were behind us.

At Chicago our train split into sections going to three different camps. The largest unit, three cars, was for Grant. At 11:35 a. m. in the Chicago yards, we were told that we must wait for the 3:30 regular Illinois Central train to haul us to Rockford.

Well-Behaved

Up to that time I had never, as soldier or reporter, seen such a quiet, well-behaved military contingent. Before Chicago I saw only three bottles of beer during the entire trip, and no evidence of anything stronger. Then word came of the four-hour wait, which meant definitely that no GI could possibly go through "processing" and get his papers in time to start for home that night. The atmosphere changed. There was a little grumbling. The men conceded that probably a locomotive could not be spared to haul three cars 35 miles when there was a train going that way soon, but this was the last straw.

So beer appeared by the case and whisky by the bottle. Forbidden? Sure, and what would one harassed lieutenant do trying to stop the whisky from flowing in two cars while he was checking the occupants of a third?

There was no intoxication, no roughhouse, nothing to offend any purist except a prohibitionist. The men still would make anyone proud that they were American citizen soldiers. The tragedy was in watching men who had cheerfully withstood great discomfort and disgusting filth, as they tried to drown their disappointment at another day's delay in seeing their loved ones.

That change and its reason is something that ought to be brought home to every railroader who is in position to decide whether civilians, riding clean, air-conditioned, cross-country limited trains are to be given the right of way, or whether war-weary GI's in dirty uncomfortable coach trains should be kept rolling toward the families they have not seen for months or years—the families they must leave again, in 30 days, to fight Japan in the Pacific.

Sweet and white potatoes do not keep well together. Sweet potatoes keep best in a dry place of around 60 F. but white potatoes need a dark, moist, cooler place.
